Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam Government College

The 2020 West Bengal faced the most horrible natural and economic crisis when the unprecedented impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic in the region were followed by the most powerful cyclone to strike India and Bangladesh in 20 years. Cyclone Amphan claimed over 100 lives and destroyed the homes and livelihoods of thousands of families already struggling to cope with the COVID-19 crisis.

Not only the daily wage earners but many people working in service sector and private companies lost their job, many people working in other states were either stranded without any economic resource or had to take a terrible journey back home during the time of COVID.

Relief efforts focused on providing essential supplies such as food, water, and medical equipment to affected populations. Cyclone Amphan, which struck in May 2020, caused widespread devastation across parts of India and Bangladesh. Relief work focused on providing immediate assistance to those affected by the storm, including distributing dry food, medicines, clean water, and emergency shelter to displaced families. The simultaneous challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic and Cyclone Amphan highlighted the need for integrated relief strategies that address both immediate and long-term needs. Relief efforts had to balance emergency response with ongoing pandemic precautions, demonstrating the resilience and adaptability of both responders and affected communities.

Our students had successfully managed to collect funds from various sources and carried out intense relief material distribution in various affected areas of locality and even to the furthest corners of Bay of Bengal. They set up fair price Vegetable and Fish market for people of locality.
